1. Plans and Specifications

Overview

In 1977, the City of Rialto, under the provisions of the Landscape and Lighting Act of 1972, Part 2 of Division 15 of the California Streets and Highways Code (hereafter referred to as the “1972 Act”) established and has subsequently annexed properties to the assessment district designated as Rialto Landscape Maintenance District No. 1. The annual assessments to be levied on properties within the District provide a funding source for the continued operation and maintenance of local landscape improvements installed in connection with the development of properties within the District. Each fiscal year, the City establishes the District’s assessments based on an estimate of the costs to maintain, operate and service the landscape improvements and based upon available revenues including fund balances, City contributions and assessment limits. The costs of the improvements and the proposed annual assessments budgeted and assessed against properties within the District may include: the estimated expenditures for regular annual maintenance and repairs; incidental expenditures related to the operation and administration of the District; deficits or surpluses from prior years; revenues from other sources; and the collection of adequate funds for operational reserves or periodic expenditures including installments collected for long-term improvement projects. Each parcel is assessed proportionately for only those improvements, services and expenses for which the parcel will receive special benefit.

The original District established included parcels of land within the residential subdivision identified as Tract 9823. The District was formed to provide for the ongoing maintenance and operation of the landscaping installed in connection with the development of these properties. After the formation of the original District, the City annexed additional properties (territories of land) to the District and established assessments for those annexation territories that would fund the ongoing maintenance and operation of the landscape improvements associated with the development of those properties. A summary listing of the annexations and the associated subdivisions are provided in the Assessment Roll section of this Report.

Beginning Fiscal Year 2009-2010, the developments, subdivisions and properties therein that comprise the District have been grouped into zones of benefit (Zones and Sub-Zones) based on the improvements and services associated with those parcels. Each Zone reflects the various types of improvements and services to be provided by the District and the type of property development associated with those improvements. The net annual cost to provide the improvements for each Zone are allocated to the benefiting properties within that Zone using a weighted method of apportionment that calculates the proportional benefit and assessment for each parcel as compared to other properties that benefit from the Zone improvements and services.

The word “parcel,” for the purposes of this Report, refers to an individual property assigned its own Assessor’s Parcel Number (“APN”) by the County Assessor’s Office. The County Auditor/Controller uses APNs and specific Fund Numbers to identify properties to be assessed on the tax roll for the special benefit assessments.

While the budgets outlined in this Report reflect the estimated costs necessary to fully and adequately provide for the maintenance and operation of the improvements within the District, many of these estimated costs and associated services cannot be funded by the current assessment revenues and contributions from the City. To fully fund the improvements, it will be necessary to increase assessment revenues which will require the support of the property owners for new or increased assessments through a ballot proceeding conducted under the provisions of the California Constitution Article XIID. Although such proceedings are not being conducted this fiscal year and the proposed District assessments for Fiscal Year 2025-2026 are not being increased over the assessments levied in the prior fiscal year, such assessment increases may be considered in the future due to the rising costs associated with the District improvements.

Plans and Specifications

ZONES OF BENEFIT:

For Fiscal Year 2025-2026, the parcels, lots, subdivisions, and developments within the District are identified and grouped into one of three zones of benefit referred to as “Zones”. Each Zone reflects the landscape improvements

1. Plans and Specifications

associated with the development of properties in that Zone, in order to fairly and equitably apportion the net cost of providing those improvements to the properties that receive special benefits from the service and activities associated with those improvements. Most of the parcels in the District are identified as single-family residential properties within various residential developments. These residential developments have been grouped into two different Zones based on whether the landscaped areas associated with those developments include tree maintenance services or not. All other developments within the District are grouped into Zone 3. Within this Zone, each development is treated as a Sub-zone (each development is assessed for its specific improvements). By establishing and utilizing a Zone structure, similar properties with similar types of improvements will be assessed a proportional amount for the services and activities provided by the District. The following is a brief description of the District Zones:

ZONE 1 includes the parcels within residential subdivisions that the District provides for the maintenance, operation and servicing of:

- Streetscape landscaping (parkways and medians) located on the perimeter or entryway of a residential subdivision that was installed in connection with the development of the properties within that particular residential subdivision; and/or
- Streetscape landscaping (parkways and medians) installed as part of another nearby residential development, which are either a continuation of the landscaping associated with all developments in the area or the improvements are located on a street that is considered the primary entryway to the development.

ZONE 2 includes the parcels within residential subdivisions that the District provides for the maintenance, operation and servicing of:

- Streetscape landscaping (parkways and medians) located on the perimeter or entryway of a residential subdivision that was installed in connection with the development of the properties within that particular residential subdivision; and/or
- Streetscape landscaping (parkways and medians) installed as part of another nearby residential development, which are either a continuation of the landscaping associated with all developments in the area or the improvements are located on a street that is considered the primary entryway to the development; and
- Trees located in the landscaped areas described above.

Note: The landscape improvements within both Zone 1 and Zone 2 include the maintenance and servicing of the landscaping (turf, shrubs or both), but the landscaped areas associated with Zone 2 also have the additional benefit and cost of tree services within those landscaped areas.

ZONE 3 includes parcels that are generally considered non-single-family residential properties including, but not limited to non-residential properties (commercial developments) and multi-family residential properties (apartments), collectively referred to in this Report as “non-residential” developments. Within this Zone, the District provides for the maintenance, operation and servicing of:

- Parkway landscaping on the perimeter of the development within the public right-of-way or easement (face of curb to property line), that was installed in connection with the development of the properties within that particular development; and/or
- Median-island landscaping near or adjacent to the development that was installed as part of developing the properties within that particular development.

1. Plans and Specifications

Note: Unlike Zone 1 and Zone 2, the type of property development, overall location of the improvements and extent of the improvements, may vary significantly between each development. Therefore, each development is currently budgeted and assessed separately to the parcels that comprise each of those developments.

DESCRIPTION OF IMPROVEMENTS AND SERVICES

The landscape improvements for the District may include, but are not limited to, various streetscape landscaping including parkways and medians as well as public landscaped areas within or adjacent to the properties within a particular development. These landscape improvements may include turf, ground cover, plants, shrubs, trees, irrigation and drainage systems, and associated appurtenant facilities located within the various easements, rights-of-way or public properties that comprise the landscaped areas including, but not limited to, sidewalks, curbs, fencing and monuments. Generally, the work to be performed consists of the annual maintenance costs for landscaping improvements that include, but are not limited to, labor, materials, equipment, electrical, water and incidental expenses. The following outlines the location and extent of the landscape improvements associated with the properties and developments of the various Zones within the District which are more particularly described by maps which are on file in the Engineering Division of the Department of Public Works entitled "Landscape Maintenance District No. 1" (Annexations 1 through 119), and by reference are made part of this Report.

2. Cost Estimates

District Budgets

The following budgets outline the estimated costs to properly maintain and service the various landscape improvements described in this Report (fully funded services and activities). In most cases, the costs to properly service and maintain the improvements cannot be fully funded by the existing assessment revenues. With insufficient reserve contributions to offset the estimated costs in Zone 3, there is a deficit of approximately $3,011. Many of the desired services and activities, particularly those associated with repairs, tree maintenance, replacements and rehabilitation will need to be reduced, postponed or eliminated until such time that assessment revenues can be increased. City staff will ultimately determine which services and activities shall be eliminated or reduced to keep the actual costs and expenditures for Fiscal Year 2025-2026 within the current available revenues, the revenue shortfalls are expected to increase over the years as a result of inflation.

Proposition 218 Compliance

On November 5, 1996, California voters approved Proposition 218, entitled “Right to Vote on Taxes Act,” which added Article XIII D to the California Constitution. While its title refers only to taxes, Proposition 218 establishes new procedural requirements for the formation and administration of assessment districts. Proposition 218 also requires that with certain specified exception, which are described below, all existing assessment districts must be ratified by the property owners within the District using the new procedures.

Some of these exceptions include:

1. Any assessments imposed exclusively to finance the capital cost or maintenance and operation expenses for streets.
2. Any assessments levied pursuant to a petition signed by the persons owning all of the parcels subject to the assessment at the time the assessment was initially imposed.

However, even if assessments are initially exempt from Proposition 218, if the assessments are increased in the future, the City will need to comply with the provisions of Proposition 218 for that portion of the increased assessment formula (e.g., CPI increase).

Proposition 218 does not define the term “streets,” however, based on the opinions of the public agency officials, attorneys, assessment engineers, and Senate Bill 919, it has been determined that streets include all public improvements located within the street rights-of-way. This would include median and parkway landscaping, traffic signals, safety lighting, and street lighting.

Proposition 218 defines “assessment” as “any levy or charge upon real property by an agency for a special benefit conferred upon the real property.” Cal. Const., art. XIII D, §2(b). A special assessment, sometimes called a “benefit assessment,” is a charge generally levied upon parcels of real property to pay for benefits the parcels receive from local improvements. Special assessments are levied according to statutory authority granted by the Legislature or, in some instances, local charters. Distinguishing among taxes, fees, and assessments can be difficult and often depends on the context in which the distinction is made. For example, taxes, assessments, and property-related fees all may be imposed on property. The key feature that distinguishes an assessment from a tax, fee, or charge is the existence of a special benefit to real property. Without identifying a special benefit, there can be no assessment.

Distinguishing General and Special Benefit

Proposition 218 added a set of procedures and requirements, which a local government must follow to levy an assessment. In addition to notice, hearing, and assessment ballot proceedings, Proposition 218 provides that “only special benefits are assessable” and requires a local government to “separate the general benefits from the special benefits conferred on a parcel.”

By its nature, most public improvements financed through an assessment district contain an element of public benefit. The test is: does there exist, with relation to the improvement, a special benefit to the property assessed? The law requires that portion of the cost of the improvement, which benefits the public generally to be separated from that portion of the cost of the improvement, which specially benefits assessed properties. Proposition 218 provides the following definition of “special benefit”:

“Special benefit” means a particular and distinct benefit over and above general benefits conferred on real property located in the district or to the public at large. General enhancement of property value does not constitute “special benefit”.

The actual assessment and the amount of the assessment for the Fiscal Year 2025-2026 apportioned to each parcel as shown on the latest equalized roll at the County Assessor’s office are listed in Appendix A of this Report. The description of each lot or parcel is part of the records of the County Assessor of the County of Riverside and such records are, by reference, made part of this Report.

3. Method of Apportionment

Improvements Authorized by the 1972 Act

As applicable or may be applicable to this proposed District, the 1972 Act defines improvements to mean one or any combination of the following:

- The installation or planting of landscaping.
- The installation or construction of statuary, fountains, and other ornamental structures and facilities.
- The installation or construction of public lighting facilities.
- The installation or construction of any facilities which are appurtenant to any of the foregoing or which are necessary or convenient for the maintenance or servicing thereof, including, but not limited to, grading, clearing, removal of debris, the installation or construction of curbs, gutters, walls, sidewalks, or paving, or water, irrigation, drainage, or electrical facilities.
- The maintenance or servicing, or both, of any of the foregoing.
- The acquisition of any existing improvement otherwise authorized pursuant to this section.

Incidental expenses associated with the improvements including, but not limited to:

- The cost of preparation of the report, including plans, specifications, estimates, diagram, and assessment;
- The costs of printing, advertising, and the publishing, posting and mailing of notices;
- Compensation payable to the County for collection of assessments;
- Compensation of any engineer or attorney employed to render services;
- Any other expenses incidental to the construction, installation, or maintenance and servicing of the improvements;
- Any expenses incidental to the issuance of bonds or notes pursuant to Section 22662.5.
- Costs associated with any elections held for the approval of a new or increased assessment.

The 1972 Act defines "Maintain" or "maintenance" to mean furnishing of services and materials for the ordinary and usual maintenance, operation, and servicing of any improvement, including:

- Repair, removal, or replacement of all or any part of any improvement.
- Providing for the life, growth, health, and beauty of landscaping, including cultivation, irrigation, trimming, spraying, fertilizing, or treating for disease or injury.
- The removal of trimmings, rubbish, debris, and other solid waste.
- The cleaning, sandblasting, and painting of walls and other improvements to remove or cover graffiti.

Method of Apportionment

The 1972 Act permits the establishment of assessment districts by agencies for the purpose of providing certain public improvements which include the construction, maintenance, and servicing of public lights, landscaping and appurtenant facilities. The 1972 Act further requires that the cost of these improvements be levied according to benefit rather than assessed value:

“The net amount to be assessed upon lands within an assessment district may be apportioned by any formula or method which fairly distributes the net amount among all assessable lots or parcels in proportion to the estimated benefits to be received by each such lot or parcel from the improvements.”

The formula used for calculating assessments in this District reflects the composition of the parcels, and the improvements and services provided in order to fairly apportion the costs based on estimated benefit to each parcel.

BENEFIT ANALYSIS

Each of the proposed improvements, services, activities, associated costs and assessments have been carefully reviewed, identified and allocated based on benefit pursuant to the provisions of the 1972 Act. The improvements associated with this District have been identified as necessary, required and/or desired for the orderly development of the properties within the District to their full potential, consistent with the proposed development plans and applicable portions of the City's General Plan. As such, these improvements would be necessary and required of individual property owners for the development of such properties and the ongoing operation, servicing and maintenance of these improvements would be the financial obligation of those properties. Therefore, the improvements and the annual costs of ensuring the maintenance and operation of the improvements are considered a direct and special benefit to the properties.

3. Method of Apportionment

Although the improvements provided by the District are located within public easements and right-of-way, and the improvements are visible to the public at large, it has been determined that the construction and installation of the improvements were only necessary for the development of properties within the District and were not required nor necessarily desired by any properties or developments outside the District boundaries. Furthermore, similar improvements and services associated with other developments within the City of Rialto are provided and either funded by similar assessment districts or maintained privately by individual property owners or associations. Some of the developments within this District are maintained privately by individual property owners or similar associations and accordingly, are not being assessed by this District. Therefore, it has been determined that public access or use of the improvements by others is incidental and there is no measurable general benefit to properties outside the District or to the public at large and the improvements provided by the District are entirely a special benefit to the developments and properties therein that required the construction and installation of such improvements.

The method of apportionment (method of assessment) developed for this District is based on the premise that each of the properties to be assessed receives benefit from the improvements and services directly associated with the development of that property. The desirability and aesthetic of the properties are enhanced by the presence of well-maintained landscaping in close proximity to those properties. The determination of benefit for each lot, parcel, subdivision and/or development within the District is based on the following benefit nexus:

- The purpose of the landscaping is to provide an aesthetic impression for the parcels within each development directly associated with the various District improvements and services.
- The maintained landscaping benefits each property in such developments.
- Single-family residential developments benefit equally from the various landscaped improvements in their area whether those improvements were installed by that particular development or by an adjacent residential development. Therefore, each development will share the combined costs of the improvements associated with their neighborhood and Zone.
- The residential lots which are not adjacent to the landscaped area benefit by the uniform maintenance and appearance of the improvements associated with their development and each parcel not directly adjacent to the landscaped area benefits equally. Residential properties which are adjacent to the landscaped area are assigned a 10% surcharge to recognize their proximity to the improvements and to support the greater benefit they receive.
- Each non-single-family residential development is assessed and benefits from the landscaped improvements that were constructed and installed in connection with the development of their property. Therefore, the parcels within each of these developments will share in the costs of those improvements.

ASSESSMENT METHODOLOGY

The method of apportionment for this District calculates the receipt of special benefit from the respective improvements based on the land use of the parcels within the District. The special benefit received by each lot or parcel is equated to the overall land use of the parcels benefiting from the improvements provided based on each parcel's individual land use as compared to other properties within the District and this comparison is reliant upon the special benefit received from the specific type of improvements and services provided or planned within each respective Zone or Sub-zone of the District.

3. Method of Apportionment

To assess benefits equitably, it is necessary to relate each property's proportional special benefits to the special benefits of all other properties that benefit from the improvements and services provided by the District. The Equivalent Benefit Unit ("EBU") method of assessment apportionment uses a basic unit (base value) of assessment that is common to all properties benefiting from the improvements and services provided and assigns a weighted value to each parcel assessed based on an assessment formula that equates the property's specific development status, type of development (land use), and size of the property, as compared to the base value. The EBU method of apportioning special benefits is typically seen as an appropriate and equitable assessment methodology for districts formed under the 1972 Act, as the benefit to each parcel from the improvements are apportioned as a function of land use type, size and development, or other common factors such as front footage along the improvements.

Calculation of Assessments for Zone 1 and Zone 2

Zone 1 and Zone 2 are comprised entirely of residential developments. For these two Zones, the interior single-family residential parcels are assigned 1.0 EBU (the base value of benefit for calculating the assessments). The parcels within these developments that are adjacent to the improvements have been assigned a 10% surcharge, or 1.10 EBU, to recognize their proximity to the improvements and to support the greater benefit they receive. The following formula is used to calculate each parcel's proportional benefit:

Interior Parcel = 1.00 EBU

Exterior Parcel (Adjacent to the Landscaping) = 1.10 EBUs

For each of these two Zones, the total number of Equivalent Benefit Units (EBUs) for the fiscal year equals the sum of all individual EBUs applied to parcels in that Zone. An assessment amount per EBU (Rate) for the improvements is established by taking the total cost of the improvements to be levied (Balance to Levy) and dividing that amount by the total number of EBUs in that Zone. This Rate is then applied back to each parcel's individual EBU to determine the parcel's proportionate benefit and assessment obligation for the improvements.

Total Balance to Levy (for the Zone)/ Total EBU (for the Zone) = Levy per EBU

Levy per EBU x Parcel EBU = Parcel Levy Amount

Calculation of Assessments for Zone 3

Zone 3 is comprised of developments that are primarily non-residential properties (commercial, industrial, institutional, etc.), but may also incorporate developments that include multi-family residential properties, or mixed-use developments that may include any combination of non-residential properties, multi-family residential properties and/or single-family residential parcels. For these individual developments (annexations to the District), the apportionment of costs between the individual parcels was established when the properties were annexed to the District and based on the property development factors at that time. In most cases, the allocation of costs to each parcel is based on a per-parcel apportionment, utilizing the best representation of each parcel's benefit compared to the other parcels in the overall development (i.e., proportional acreage, proportional units, and front footage). While these various developments (annexations) have all been grouped into Zone 3, the cost to provide the improvements and the allocation of those costs to the properties within those developments are each budgeted separately. The following outlines the apportionment of costs associated with each of the developments included in Zone 3:

Multi-Family Residential Developments

Three of the Zone 3 developments include multi-family residential properties (parcels that include multiple residential units), designated as annexation numbers 6, 26, and 100. Unlike the single-family residential developments previously discussed, these developments each have unique characteristics. The following outlines the cost allocation (apportionment) to the parcels within each of these developments.

Exempt Properties

Properties classified as Exempt Properties may include, but are not limited to, lots or parcels identified as public streets and other roadways (typically not assigned an APN by the County), dedicated public easements, rights-of-way, common areas, sliver parcels and bifurcated lots, or any other property that the City has determined cannot be developed, or any other property for which the City has been determined there is no definable special benefit from the improvements. These properties shall be assigned 0.00 EBU and accordingly, shall not be assessed.

Also exempt from the District assessments are the parcels identified by the following developments and annexation designations. These developments were originally annexed to the District anticipating that the City would assume responsibility for the maintenance of the related landscape improvements. However, the improvements were not turned over to the City for maintenance and are currently being privately maintained by the respective property owners. The parcels within these developments are currently exempt and shall not be assessed by the District.
